IV. Special Items
A. Symbolic Gesture in honor of the late Professor Darwin Shane Koch: Silence and Resolution: The Faculty Senate observed a moment of silence in honor of the late Professor Darwin Shane Koch. L. DiLalla questioned singling out this one person for the resolution. J. Brown suggested it was because he was an active member of the Faculty Senate and added this being a problem on campus, not honoring all the people who have passed away. Discussion ensued about being more inclusive and intentional in recognizing all faculty (active and retired) who have passed away during the academic year.
A vote commenced: 22 Yeas, 0 Nays, 1 Abstention; Resolution Passed.

B. Chancellor Lane’s Request: A Resolution to Form an Ad Hoc Committee: B. Rader read the resolution.
Motion: S. Comparato
Second: E. Jurkowski
B. Rader mentioned that having discussion with Chancellor Lane at the FSEC meeting, he was open to a wider focus for this committee. J. Brobst expressed concern about the committee being a good use of faculty’s time. Brobst suggested that faculty could improve the university’s US News and other rankings by improving its perception from peers through increased scholarships and presentations, improve our reputation and branding, and the need to recruit outstanding students. Brobst welcomed cooperation with improving our excellence and being productive post reorganization. J. Sramek showed concern against the March 15th committee end date, noting that this study will require more time. L. DiLalla agreed with Brobst and said that the committee’s scope is too global. M. Odom agreed and opined that US News and World Report (USNWR) rankings are public relations, having little to do with faculty. Y. Lee noted that student-faculty ratio is the only faculty data point factored into USNWR. L. Wang agreed with DiLalla and suggested the committee should look at why the university’s ranking has fallen and what that reasoning is. Wang mentioned that the ranking could provide advertisement for SIUC and people do recognize rankings regardless of flaws. M. Eichholz suggested focusing on our mission to be successful. S. Comparato agreed with Wang about the public perception of USNWR and sees the committee as an opportunity for faculty to voice opinions to administration. W. Metz provided an example to the negative impact of the university’s ranking, stating that his department lost a prospective international PhD student. The student couldn’t get funding because SIU was not in the top 500 global universities. J. Brown emphasized the importance of rankings to graduate students and saw the committee as an opportunity to get fresh answers to ongoing questions and a new perception.

Motion: J. Sramek – To amend the resolution by removing the March 15th committee end date. S. Comparato agreed. E. Jurkowski agreed.

Second: S. Comparato

M. Eichholz mentioned concern about how to use the information gained from this committee. L. DiLalla agreed with Eichholz and added that it’s still broad and may want to improve what goes into the rankings.

A vote commenced: 21 Yeas, 1 Nay, 3 Abstentions; Amendment to Resolution Passed.

M. Eichholz added that the goal shouldn’t be to improve our ranking but understand why it’s dropped and to identify those reasons. S. Comparato and J. Sherry both noted that Chancellor Lane told the Executive Committee that the language of the resolution would not restrict the Ad Hoc Committee’s autonomy. D. Sarko refereed to the ranking criteria and weights, in the chat, that could be used to be more specific. J. Sramek added that after reorg this is the time for self-reflection and gives us a chance to do a self-study at a university level. V. Kreher mentioned the pairing to other universities.

A vote commenced: 23 Yeas, 3 Nays, 0 Abstentions. Resolution Passed.

Y. Lee reported on his recent meetings with Chancellor Lane. In those meetings, Lee reported discussing the university’s strategic direction, combination of administrative positions, enrollment, academic excellence, institutional ranking by a resolution, the importance of shared governance, and respecting faculty’s voice and input. Y. Lee also touched on attending the first meeting with Gray Associates on May 13th about program effectiveness. He also shared information about honoring the late Professor Darwin Shane Koch with an event on July 17th.

VII. Q and A Session with the Provost
A. Provost Meera Komarraju
J. Sramek asked if we are contracted with Gray Associates. Provost Komarraju said they are moving forward. B. Rader asked about establishing more permanent positions for school directors rather than interim positions. Provost replied that it was deferred to the faculty in the schools to choose permanent or interim. J. Shapiro asked what is going on with the vaccination policy and why are we not doing what University of Illinois is doing? Provost Komarraju said they take guidance from the CDC, State of Illinois, SIU School of Medicine, and other state universities. The Provost added they are doing what is best for SIU Carbondale. They also receive guidance from a team headed by Chief Ben Newman, Director of Public Safety. A survey of the faculty, staff, and students showed that half would support requiring vaccinations and the other half would not support requiring vaccinations. People unvaccinated will be required to wear masks on the honor system and vaccines will be available on campus with incentives for students. Testing will be able on campus too. J. Sramek asked that enrollment data that was shared with members of the Executive Committee be included in the minutes. Sramek followed up by saying buildings on campus are locked on weekends, giving no access for tour guides and potential students on Saturday visits. He asked the Provost what could be done to help the process. Provost Komarraju said she would look into it. J. Shapiro asked for an enrollment update. Provost reported undergraduate freshman applications are at 9,080 up 12.9%. Admitted students is up 14.6% admitting 6,472 students and have registered 1,199 students which is 1.4% lower than LY. Transfers on campus, applications are at 2,045 which is 6.2% higher to LY. Admitting 1,137 which is 6% lower to LY and registering 537 students which is 7.6% lower to LY. Off campus applications are up 6% at 477 applicants and admitted students is up 3.6% at 291 but registered students are down 4.2% at 138. Graduate student applications are at 1,640 up 3.5% to LY admitting 734 which is 5.6% higher to LY and registering 312 students which is 11.8% higher to LY. Provost Komarraju touched on retention efforts. For Fall 2017 to Fall 2018 retention was 72%. The following year it went up to 75.1%. The following year it went up to 80.6%. As of today, retention is 72.5% which is 1.85% lower to LY. Provost assured they are doing everything possible to get them registered.

Chancellor Lane joined the meeting. The Chancellor said they are now at a total of 8,818 students up 2.4% from LY and looking at using HERRF to help returning students. He emphasized the university’s vaccination survey and interest in results. Spoke about financial incentives for student vaccinations and encouraging wearing masks. J. Sramek mentioned seeing data from not just LY but for two or three years ago. Chancellor Lane reported freshman orientation is currently at 1,376 students. The Chancellor touched on the IBHE recent report showing an equity gap among rural and minority students and that growing enrollment form these declining in-state populations would not be successful.
